

Pray for someone else to receive inner healing and deliverance. Then write 1/2 page of experience.

I was able to pray for my wife for her inner healing and deliverance, and she also prayed for me with my inner healing and deliverance. This class has been a blessing because it has brought our prayer life as a couple much stronger. We are now able to go into warfare together and understanding the power and authority we have together. We went through all of the steps outlined in the book Inner Healing and Deliverance.

I gave her that time to get into her own personal time to be with God to repent and ask for forgiveness. I then had her write down what it was she needed to be delivered from and set free. I then opened up in prayer ushering in the presence of the Holy Spirit. I then began to pray for her and went down her list one by one and renounced each spirit calling and casting it out by name. She then repeated every prayer and calling out every spirit and bondage by name, in the name of Jesus. As I was praying I could feel the Holy Spirit upon me as I would feel the chills and feel the power that was coming fourth. My body gets hot and my hands and body begin to sweat. I believe that the spirits that were holding her back had fled from her spirit because she began to cry.

After I renounced the spirits from my wife, I prayed for cleansing of her body, spirit, mind, body, soul, heart and will. Then I prayed for her to be filled with peace, joy, and love to fill those areas that were voided by the enemy. This was the first time I have prayed for inner healing and deliverance. Honestly I was hesitant to pray for her, because I was doubting myself and if I could really help her with her deliverance. As I prayed and allowed the Holy Spirit to take over, and give me the power and authority to pray for her she was delivered. I have to always remember greater is He in me, than he who is in the world.
