My vision is to continue to allow God to use me in all areas of my life. Right now I'm in the season of growing and learning to study myself approved. I will continue to intercede in prayer for my family and people around me that have watched God change and transform me not only for God's glory but for mine and their lives. I admit that I sometimes do not pray as often as I should but this will change as I prioritize prayer time in my life. Yes I am always speaking to God, but to pray is to intercede and change things. I will make it a point to prioritize and set aside a half hour a day in my life for prayer. Yes I am super busy with work, family, and LU and ministry however like the author said "I am too busy not to pray".
