

Leadership 105 * Lesson #9

HW: What Now? PG 217

The time came when Jesus left his disciples and ascended into heaven. The ministry of Jesus has grown and multiplied many times over because they were multiplying leaders. We are called to change the world, and we will accomplish this by mentoring and multiplying disciples. We must follow the example of Jesus. Jesus' Great Commission to evangelize in this whole world by making, multiplying, and mentoring disciples was not a suggestion, but a command. If we want to mentor and multiply like Jesus, then we must build relationships with some potential disciple makers, pray for a few faithful people that we are able to pour our lives into, invite them into an intentional disciple making relationship, pray for them everyday, and break them in slowly before completely turning them loose. We have our power of 12 who I am able to pour into, and I am able to pour into my mom and my cousin who is a new Christian, and that is who I am pouring into. There is a famous quote that says that Jesus spent most of His time with His small group of leaders. He focused His energy on them, mentoring them, and showing them how to live the life of the way. We must lead like Jesus, and follow His example.
